AI automation · custom software · accessible digital media

MXLIS1040 LLC dba STWLTH · operating as Stwlth Software

Core capabilities

AI automation

Language models and workflow automation inside real business processes: fields pulled out of documents, requests routed, staff questions answered from your own files with the source cited. Private, local models when data can't leave the network.

Custom software

Web applications, internal tools, customer portals, APIs and dashboards, with accounts, permissions and the database designed on day one. Built in React and Next.js, Python or .NET.

Speech, accessibility and media pipelines

Timestamped, speaker-labeled transcripts, burned-in captions, text-to-speech narration for documents and courses, and long recordings batch-cut into captioned clips. Runs on local models when footage is sensitive.

Websites

Company sites, landing pages and web apps built for speed, accessibility and conversion, wired into the CRM and analytics already in use.

Branding

Mark, type, colour and voice shipped as design tokens and components shared by the website and the product.

Selected work (our own systems)

Stwlth Wealth

STWLTH.COM/WEALTH

22 financial simulators: installable, working offline, no bank linking. First commit to production in 116 days, with accounts, payments and automated tests on every change. Next.js and TypeScript, PostgreSQL with row-level security, Clerk accounts, Stripe billing.

Ask S.W.

INSIDE EVERY STWLTH WEALTH CALCULATOR

An assistant that reads the numbers on screen and explains the math behind them from the product's own methodology docs. One API streams answers from Claude, OpenAI or Gemini, with daily limits, answer caching and bring-your-own-key.

Lead to portal

STWLTH.COM/PORTAL

An inquiry from the site lands in a database, not an inbox. One click turns it into a client project, and the client signs in to see its status, the next step and every update, matched to their verified email.

Differentiators

Published fixed prices for packaged work, agreed before work starts.

Approval rules: nothing sends, pays or deletes without the client's OK.

Client-owned accounts: tools, code and documents are in the client's name from day one.

A written spec and tests, kept in the client's repository.

Only claims that are true today: no placeholder clients, metrics or certifications.
